

THE CRAFT COMPANION

So Darlene went down the hall to their bedroom for a siesta, and first week's supply of meals is delivered. "I don't know for sure. It was the second one he'd had. He would get pale and nervous. I think he hadn't mentioned North Carolina except that once the day before, and I was extremely interested in all subjects he wanted to avoid. "What's it like in the Blue Ridge? darkness boomed. . . . wanted to talk to, but he didn't know what to talk about. He had no ideas of his own. He agreed with. Suddenly he was at the window, climbing out and dropping to the matted sward below. He ran across the clearing, through the trees and into the open space before the riverbank. "Alas," said Amos, "he was blown away in the wind." He climbed up the ladder and handed the grey. "Where were you climbing to?". basic permissible amenities as "How are you," "Take care," and giving out prices. . . . runabout with a regal grace so unlike Selene's bridled energy it was hard to believe they possessed the. I found the Detweiler boy again on the 16th and the 19th. He'd moved into a rooming house near Silver Lake Park on the night of the 13th and moved out again on the 19th. The landlady hadn't refunded his money, but she gave him an alibi for the knifing of an old man in the park on the 16th and the suicide of a girl in the same rooming house on the 19th. He'd been in the pink of health when he moved in, sick on the 16th, healthy the 17th, and sick again the 19th. . . . spikes. . . . 208. The examiner, a wizened, white-haired fuddy-duddy whose name Barry instantly forgot, had been hostile. something moved inside it, and they saw it was the form of a lovely girl. It was Lea, who had appeared to. He examined the dome as he walked back to camp. There was a figure hazily visible through the plastic. At this distance he would have been unable to tell who it was if it weren't for the black face. He saw her step up to the dome wall and wipe a clear circle to look through. She spotted his bright red suit and pointed at him. She was suited except for her helmet, which contained her radio. He knew he was in trouble. He saw her turn away and bend to the ground to pick up her helmet, so she could tell him what she thought of people who disobeyed her orders, when the dome shuddered like jellyfish. . . . I stare across the stage and she's looking back at me. Her eyes flash emerald in the wave from Hollis' color generator. She sub-vocalizes so her lips don't move. . . . "We've recalculated everything based on the lower mass without the twenty of you and the six tons of samples we were allowing for. By using the fuel we would have ferried down to you for takeoff, we can make a faster orbit down toward Venus. The departure date for that orbit is seven days away. We'll rendezvous with a drone capsule full of supplies we hadn't counted on." And besides, Lang thought to herself, it's much more dramatic. Plunging sunward on the chancy cometary orbit, their pantries stripped bare, heading for the fateful rendezvous . . . beckoned them over to her. They linked arms and stood staring up at the sky. . . . He was having trouble framing the questions he wanted to ask, and he realized he'd had too much to. brown. . . . Detweiler wouldn't need anything out of it before I found out what was going on. If he did, the only thing. It had been a mistake, he realized that now, but Darlene would never understand. Genetic manipulation, especially cloning, has been much in the news recently, and in the essay below, Dr. Asimov takes up the subject with his customary energy and intelligence. Imagine, if you will, one hundred Isaac Asimov clones. "Help me push them back in the closet," said the grey man. "They're so bright that if I look at them too long, I get a headache." . . . The sun was coming in off the Boulevard, shining through the window, projecting the chipping letters painted on the glass against the wall in front of me. BERT MALLORY Confidential Investigations. I got up and looked out. This section of the Boulevard wasn't rotting yet, but it wouldn't be long. . . . peered in. . . . The back of his shirt was churning. The scream continued, hurting my ears. Rips appeared in the shirt and a small misshapen arm poked out briefly. I could only stare, frozen. The shirt was ripped to shreds. Two arms, a head, a torso came through. The whole thing ripped its way out and fell onto the couch beside the boy. Its face was twisted, tortured, and its mouth kept opening and closing with the screams. Its eyes looked incomprehendingly about. It pulled itself along with its arms, dragging its useless legs, its spine obviously broken. It fell off the couch and flailed about on the floor. . . .
